Общие сведения

I'm an aspiring Python developer with a strong interest in backend development, automation, and problem-solving. I enjoy working on projects that involve data collection, web scraping, and building efficient tools to simplify real-world tasks. I have practical experience developing small web applications with Django and creating Telegram bots using Aiogram. I also design REST APIs and automation scripts to connect services and process data effectively. My focus is on writing clean, reliable code and continuously improving my technical and analytical skills. I'm motivated to grow as a backend developer, contribute to meaningful projects, and learn from experienced professionals in the field.
